

THE DAVIS FAMILY.

Some Reminiscences Connected With Jefferson Davis.

YOUNG JEFF'S EVENTFUL CAREER.

Charming Mrs. Hayes—The Old Jail—Something About the Family—Other News From Macon.

MACON, Ga., November 4.—[Special.]—Dr. Chalmers, of this city, was a schoolmate with young Jefferson Davis at the Virginia Military Institute in 1837. He says that young Jeff was one of the best behaved pupils in the whole school, and was a bright, genial, and companionable young man.

It will be remembered that young Jeff died of the yellow fever in Memphis in 1859. His death was a sad blow to his parents, who put so much store by him.

CHARMING MRS. HAYES. In the hurry bury of last week's festivities, one had little time to devote to fully appreciating the real beauties of the character of the members of Mr. Davis's family. They were all charmingly simple and unassuming in their manners, and none more so than Mrs. Hayes.

Those who know this lady well say that her literary attainments are really superior. She has written the "Life and Times of Jefferson Davis," it is claimed by those who profess to know.

In fact and figure she does not resemble Miss Winnie much. She is more of a brunette, with soft brown eyes, and is rather tall and willowy in figure. Her husband is very poor health, and was unable to leave his home in Colorado, to accompany the party. Mrs. Hayes has several children who were with her. She possesses a matronly dignity that captivates at once, and altogether one of the most charming of women.

MISS WINNIE DAVIS is a very charming young lady. She has bright blue eyes, and a most charming countenance, supported by the most entertaining manners. It is whispered in social circles that she is the belle of the season. She is a native of Macon, and is also a man high up in social circles as well as in political preference. The outcome of the courtship is awaited with interest.

HOW THE OLD MAN. Mr. E. B. Grace, who has just returned from the west, says that Mr. Miles Sells, of Sells Bros., lately received an order for a horse for Jeff Davis. Hon. Jefferson Davis wrote a letter in acknowledgment, writing that he was writing the history of the war from his dictation. He could hardly distinguish the difference in the handwriting, but will never part with the letter.

The decorations on his carriage were divided. Captain Wells, of the Soda Water company, obtained the first one, and has tucked it up in his hall. It is a picture of Mr. Davis with all the emblems.

Charlie Dargatz got the others, the one containing a portrait of General Robert E. Lee and the others, gentlemen prize them above all other pictures.

SOME REMINISCENCES.

Connected With the Old Brick Bibb County.

MACON, Ga., November 4.—[Special.]—Captain Simpson gave reminiscences today, during his morning, and some additional stories concerning the old jail.

There have been enough tears shed within its ancient walls to furnish water for making up the mortar for a similar building.

In the basement was located the "backing" place, where slaves were beaten in the old times. When one grew weary, he was taken down there, stripped and the lash applied in a manner more or less according to the taste of the whipping boss.

One of the saddest stories connected with the jail history was the suicide of Maxwell, a young man who came to Macon with a considerable amount of money, got among dissipated companions and squandered it. He became infatuated with Nellie Hutchings, and after getting into the jail, he was released without money or friends, and he and Nellie started to walk to Atlanta.

Captain Simpson was then captain of the police force, and he met them out near Vineville, and succeeded turning them back from their wretched ramble.

Maxwell returned, almost delirious with drink, and he and Nellie were separated, getting tired of his conduct. Later in the day he walked into the office of the jail, wrote a short note, and picking up a large yard revolver, he placed it to his temple, fired and sank to a chair dead.

When Mr. Upton was assistant keeper of the jail, he had a negro man, a white man, and a white woman, who were all very bad characters. He had gone through the war as body servant to his master, a Mr. Bass, who lived in southwest Georgia.

After the war Smart got to being a regular thief, and he was arrested by an officer near Butler and put in the jail. Mr. Upton, then conductor of the train, and after getting out of the train, he was shot and killed by him.

Bass was captured and placed in Macon jail. One day he seized on a favorable opportunity and rushed past the guard, and struck him as he ran, plunging the blade of a long knife into his spine and breaking it off. Bass fell paralyzed, and that was never heard of him again. His skeleton, although wasted to a mere skeleton, he was carried to Butler and hanged.

When Timmy was jailed, and Mr. Nantz, who is still alive, was one of the guards. A negro tried to escape and was shot and killed on the stairway.

The old jail was torn down now, as it stands on two of the lots purchased by the city. Jacques, Horne & Solomon, and will make room for other residences or business houses.

AN OLD PEACOCK.

After Escaping Sherman he is Slain by a Bullet.

MACON, Ga., November 4.—[Special.]—Just before the war old farmer Lowe, father of John Y. and John L. Lowe, who still reside near Macon, got some peacocks and began breeding them. By the close of the war he had quite a flock of beautiful birds, and when Sherman came through his soldiers killed all but one old cock.

This patriarchal fowl was slain a few days ago by a setter dog, after having lived for the last two years of his life. He went unattended so long that he became a misanthropic old widower, and when Mr. W. B. Lowe, some years ago, purchased a hen to keep the old fowl company, he finally refused to recognize her in any way, and kept up his old moping habits up to the day of his tragic death. He had a magnificent tail which will be made into a memorial brush.

HOUSTON COURT.

A Few Cases Tried—A Case of Usury—Other Notes.

MACON, Ga., November 4.—[Special.]—Judge Justin is still at Houston court. Yesterday the case of J. H. Tallman vs. W. H. Wiley, recovery on a loan, was tried, and the court decided for a recovery of ten percent on the amount on account of usury.

The case of the Singer manufacturing company vs. J. C. Davidson, was tried. The case was based on the recovery of five hundred dollars bond, alleged to have been given for an agent of the company. Mr. M. G. Adams vs. J. C. Davidson, was also tried, and the court established the fact of non est factum in signing the deed. To Mr. Bayne is due the chief credit of whipping this big fight.

PERSONAL MENTION.

Social Happenings In The Central City—Other News.

MACON, Ga., November 4.—[Special.]—Mrs. J. E. Whitson, of Atlanta, is in the city on journalistic errands.

Dr. R. O. Cotter, who has married the daughter of Senator Latham Powell, in Barreville, has arrived in the city and is the happiest man in Georgia.

There are many forms of nervous debility in men, that yield to the use of Carter's Iron Pills. Those who are troubled with nervous weakness, night sweats, &c., should try them.

INVESTED BY THIEVES.

Horse Stealing and Breaking Into Houses—Police Arrests.

MACON, Ga., November 4.—[Special.]—This part of the county seems infested with an organized band of thieves. Night before last a fine mare was stolen from Mr. C. W. Simpson, of Cathart, brought up here and tied in front of a residence in our town. Nobody knew anything about the horse, and about 12 o'clock yesterday the sheriff took charge of it. Last night Mr. Bob Simpson, of Cathart, identified it as Charlie Simpson's.

The town was considerably stirred up over the report that the express company had been burglarized. Four correspondents went over to find out the truth of the rumor. The shutter to one of the windows was forced loose, the catch broken off. A pane of glass was broken, and through it the burglar reached the button which holds the window down, and breaking it off, access was easy. Through the opening a box of jewelry, a box of cigars, a pistol, a jug of whiskey were stolen, and two trunks were broken open and rifled of their contents.

Your correspondent also learned that Mr. J. M. McMichael, living about three miles from Macon, had his fine bay horse stolen last night. It was a magnificent animal and was highly prized by Mr. McMichael, and the whole community sympathize with him in his misfortune. He is a very successful farmer, and he like they did Mr. Simpson—leave his horse at some town where he can secure him.

SPORTING A BURGLES. Detective Shackelford has just returned from Ellaville, where he has been working on a case. About a month ago the safe at the depot in Ellaville was broken, and a large amount of money and papers taken. Detective Shackelford was employed by Mr. G. P. Subers, agent at Ellaville, and after working on the case several days, he succeeded in locating the thieves. As the party stands well, and if the matter is not settled in a few days, the case will be exposed, and Mr. Subers will swear out a warrant for the arrest of the supposed burglars.

DESTROYED BY FLAME.

Eleven Bales of Cotton Burned in a Newnan Fire.

NEWNAN, Ga., November 4.—[Special.]—In a fire which was started by a spark from a passing train, eleven bales of cotton were destroyed. The cotton was on the platform ready for shipment. It belonged to Powell & Russell.

From the Dalton, Ga., Citizen. The sawmill of Oglethorpe Bros., near Adairville, was burned a short time since.

At Mr. A. Scott's place, in this county, a fire occurred yesterday morning which came very near being disastrous. A double cabin on the place, occupied by two families of negroes. The grown members of one family had gone off to work, leaving the children in the room. Some one had fired a shot into the building, and for a time the entire building was in imminent danger. Fortunately a number of men who were at work nearby, saw the smoke, and extinguished the flames before any great damage was done.

DAVIS SENTENCE.

He is Given Fifteen Years—Ten Years for Another.

MACON, Ga., November 4.—[Special.]—L. J. Davis, of Montgomery county, was sentenced to fifteen years imprisonment yesterday. His counsel made a motion for a new trial, which will be heard November 20th. He is out on $10,000 bond.

From the same court Sheriff McGregor brought T. Kitchens, sentenced for ten years, for mayhem, and he is confined in jail for safekeeping now.

CAUGHT IN A GIN.

Mr. Alcock Tappan, of Greene County, Instantly Killed.

GREENSBORO, Ga., November 4.—[Special.]—Alcock Tappan, of Greene county, a conscientious man, was killed today by being caught in his cotton gin.

From the Dalton, Ga., Journal. It is reported here that Mr. William Wells, of Smithville, had an arm badly mangled in a gin a few days ago. The flesh was torn from his entire arm, and there is some doubt as to his recovery.

To Replace the School.

ALBANY, Ga., November 4.—[Special.]—The colored academy at Albany, Ga., was recently struck by lightning during a thunder storm, and while the house was occupied by over one hundred pupils who, however, were gathered together in the school building, the day in the adjoining room to the one that was struck, and which fortunate occurrence doubtless saved the lives of many children, as the room for a short time was filled with debris. The children have been taking around subscription lists within the last few days, and tonight Prof. Greene gives an entertainment at the colored Masonic hall for the purpose of raising a fund for making the necessary repairs.

The Athens Fair.

Athens, November 4.—[Special.]—Crowds were at the fair grounds again today. It centered in the horse and bicycle races.

First race, Sam Wilkes won, Little Mack second, time 2:48.

Second race, running mile, best two in three, Planter won, time 1:31.

Among Georgia's best trotting, May B. won in 2:11.

Fourth, variety running race, Squalor won every heat.

Judge Smith Holds Court.

BUREN VISTA, Ga., November 4.—[Special.]—Marion superior court convened Monday. Judge James M. Smith presiding. The dockets are being cleared rapidly. W. D. Carter and Morgan McMichael passed a very creditable examination and were admitted to the bar. No important cases are on the docket, and court will probably adjourn this week.

An Accidental Shot.

COLUMBUS, Ga., November 4.—[Special.]—Mr. Randolph Mott, of this city, accidentally shot Mr. Alex. Bayne, a cotton buyer of Greenville, while the two were hunting near Stinson today. The load took effect in the right side, and Bayne will lose his arm, if not his life.

Death of the Tallest Man.

ATLANTA, Ga., November 4.—[Special.]—Mr. William Skinner, one of the tallest and the tallest residents in the county, died today at his home, five miles from Augusta. He was seventy-five years old, seven feet six inches tall.

The New Electric Lights.

COLUMBUS, Ga., November 4.—[Special.]—The seven new electric lights, which were ordered by the city council for Broad and Twelfth streets, arrived this morning and will be put up during the first part of next week.

Rare Old Coins.

From the Dalton, Ga., Citizen. Mr. J. B. Guldner, Dalton's popular book collector, has perhaps one of the rarest collection of old and unique coins in the state. In the collection are coins two hundred years old, several of George Washington's time, and even a number of foreign coins. He is the professional coin-gatherer the collection would have many charms.

THE FIRST FROST.

From the Athens, Ga., Courier.

Winter is here. We had our first ice Monday morning. Considerable frost on last Tuesday morning.

From the Dalton, Ga., Citizen. Captain Jack Frost is stalking around, and the evening air is as crisp as a new bank note.

From the Perry, Ga., Journal.

The heavy white frost last Tuesday was quite welcome to most of our people. This was ten days earlier than the first heavy frost last year.

The worst feature about catarrh is its dangerous tendency to consumption. Hood's Sarsaparilla cures catarrh by purifying the blood.

Sure to Regulate the Bowels.

MRS. WINSLOW'S SOOTHING SYRUP is the only thing that mothers can rely upon for their children. Twenty-five cents a bottle.

THE HUNTING SEASON OPENS IN SOUTHWEST GEORGIA.

The Hunting Season Opens in Southwest Georgia.

DEER HUNTS THE POPULAR THING.

A Three-Hour Fox Chase in Screven—Billie Pournelle's Attack on the Turkey—The Sporting Men.

ALBANY, Ga., November 4.—[Special.]—The hunting season has now fairly commenced. The supply of game throughout the fields and forests of this section appears almost inexhaustible. Deer hunting parties are everywhere, and the hunters generally return with one or more antlered denizens of the forest. A party of young gentlemen, among them Messrs. W. H. Bennett, T. M. Nelson, and W. S. Tarter, are spending a day or two at the beautiful plantation home of the latter, in Baker county, gunning for duck and quail. Fox hunting in a style "quite English" is becoming all the rage with a number of young gentlemen and many of the middle aged men as well. The above mentioned hunters have recently repeatedly been most lucky in chasing a sly old fox which for several years has continued to elude the utmost vigor of hound and hunter. The animal ranges in the neighborhood of Mr. W. T. Randall's lovely home, at Palmyra, about five miles north of Albany. Among those who have joined Mr. Randall in hunting for the above mentioned fox are Messrs. Zeila Bennett, S. B. Lewis, R. A. Hall, N. J. Cruger, and Colonel J. L. Boyd. The latter is the widely known sportsman, and his last invention is a nut for an axle spindle, which automatically takes up all the wear of the wheel or axle and does away with washers. Mr. Lumpkin and Judge Lumpkin have been granted letters patent upon his device, and are those who have seen it, pronounce it an excellent, simple contrivance, and worth a fortune to its owner.

Friday night last a bold attempt was made to rob the house of Mrs. W. Cunningham, living near Brown's church in Oglethorpe county. After the family had retired a noise was heard as if some one was trying to break in, and as one of the family went to investigate the noise, two parties were seen to run away from the house. Messrs. John and Bob Cunningham were called and tracked the robbers to some distance but were unable to catch them. They were undoubtedly negroes and these gentlemen are confident of their apprehension.

A collision of freight trains at Thompson's crossing this morning last created considerable excitement in the town. It seems that the foremost freight had stopped for the purpose of taking on two cars, but before backing onto the siding the engine and the train were struck by the second freight train, and the engine and the train were struck by the second freight train, and the engine and the train were struck by the second freight train.

From the Dalton, Ga., Citizen. Sheriff R. T. Mills informs us, that on last Monday night, he, in company with eighteen other lovers of the chase, went out for a fox hunt on the old Wells place, two miles from Albany. He says they had a most successful hunt, and soon had reynard up and dishing. The sport was exciting and much enjoyed by the party, the night being one of the most charming of the season. The fox was shot by the party, and the fox was shot by the party, and the fox was shot by the party.

From the Dalton, Ga., Citizen. Sheriff R. T. Mills informs us, that on last Monday night, he, in company with eighteen other lovers of the chase, went out for a fox hunt on the old Wells place, two miles from Albany. He says they had a most successful hunt, and soon had reynard up and dishing. The sport was exciting and much enjoyed by the party, the night being one of the most charming of the season. The fox was shot by the party, and the fox was shot by the party, and the fox was shot by the party.

From the Dalton, Ga., Citizen. Sheriff R. T. Mills informs us, that on last Monday night, he, in company with eighteen other lovers of the chase, went out for a fox hunt on the old Wells place, two miles from Albany. He says they had a most successful hunt, and soon had reynard up and dishing. The sport was exciting and much enjoyed by the party, the night being one of the most charming of the season. The fox was shot by the party, and the fox was shot by the party, and the fox was shot by the party.

From the Dalton, Ga., Citizen. Sheriff R. T. Mills informs us, that on last Monday night, he, in company with eighteen other lovers of the chase, went out for a fox hunt on the old Wells place, two miles from Albany. He says they had a most successful hunt, and soon had reynard up and dishing. The sport was exciting and much enjoyed by the party, the night being one of the most charming of the season. The fox was shot by the party, and the fox was shot by the party, and the fox was shot by the party.

From the Dalton, Ga., Citizen. Sheriff R. T. Mills informs us, that on last Monday night, he, in company with eighteen other lovers of the chase, went out for a fox hunt on the old Wells place, two miles from Albany. He says they had a most successful hunt, and soon had reynard up and dishing. The sport was exciting and much enjoyed by the party, the night being one of the most charming of the season. The fox was shot by the party, and the fox was shot by the party, and the fox was shot by the party.

From the Dalton, Ga., Citizen. Sheriff R. T. Mills informs us, that on last Monday night, he, in company with eighteen other lovers of the chase, went out for a fox hunt on the old Wells place, two miles from Albany. He says they had a most successful hunt, and soon had reynard up and dishing. The sport was exciting and much enjoyed by the party, the night being one of the most charming of the season. The fox was shot by the party, and the fox was shot by the party, and the fox was shot by the party.

From the Dalton, Ga., Citizen. Sheriff R. T. Mills informs us, that on last Monday night, he, in company with eighteen other lovers of the chase, went out for a fox hunt on the old Wells place, two miles from Albany. He says they had a most successful hunt, and soon had reynard up and dishing. The sport was exciting and much enjoyed by the party, the night being one of the most charming of the season. The fox was shot by the party, and the fox was shot by the party, and the fox was shot by the party.

From the Dalton, Ga., Citizen. Sheriff R. T. Mills informs us, that on last Monday night, he, in company with eighteen other lovers of the chase, went out for a fox hunt on the old Wells place, two miles from Albany. He says they had a most successful hunt, and soon had reynard up and dishing. The sport was exciting and much enjoyed by the party, the night being one of the most charming of the season. The fox was shot by the party, and the fox was shot by the party, and the fox was shot by the party.

From the Dalton, Ga., Citizen. Sheriff R. T. Mills informs us, that on last Monday night, he, in company with eighteen other lovers of the chase, went out for a fox hunt on the old Wells place, two miles from Albany. He says they had a most successful hunt, and soon had reynard up and dishing. The sport was exciting and much enjoyed by the party, the night being one of the most charming of the season. The fox was shot by the party, and the fox was shot by the party, and the fox was shot by the party.

From the Dalton, Ga., Citizen. Sheriff R. T. Mills informs us, that on last Monday night, he, in company with eighteen other lovers of the chase, went out for a fox hunt on the old Wells place, two miles from Albany. He says they had a most successful hunt, and soon had reynard up and dishing. The sport was exciting and much enjoyed by the party, the night being one of the most charming of the season. The fox was shot by the party, and the fox was shot by the party, and the fox was shot by the party.

From the Dalton, Ga., Citizen. Sheriff R. T. Mills informs us, that on last Monday night, he, in company with eighteen other lovers of the chase, went out for a fox hunt on the old Wells place, two miles from Albany. He says they had a most successful hunt, and soon had reynard up and dishing. The sport was exciting and much enjoyed by the party, the night being one of the most charming of the season. The fox was shot by the party, and the fox was shot by the party, and the fox was shot by the party.

From the Dalton, Ga., Citizen. Sheriff R. T. Mills informs us, that on last Monday night, he, in company with eighteen other lovers of the chase, went out for a fox hunt on the old Wells place, two miles from Albany. He says they had a most successful hunt, and soon had reynard up and dishing. The sport was exciting and much enjoyed by the party, the night being one of the most charming of the season. The fox was shot by the party, and the fox was shot by the party, and the fox was shot by the party.

From the Dalton, Ga., Citizen. Sheriff R. T. Mills informs us, that on last Monday night, he, in company with eighteen other lovers of the chase, went out for a fox hunt on the old Wells place, two miles from Albany. He says they had a most successful hunt, and soon had reynard up and dishing. The sport was exciting and much enjoyed by the party, the night being one of the most charming of the season. The fox was shot by the party, and the fox was shot by the party, and the fox was shot by the party.

From the Dalton, Ga., Citizen. Sheriff R. T. Mills informs us, that on last Monday night, he, in company with eighteen other lovers of the chase, went out for a fox hunt on the old Wells place, two miles from Albany. He says they had a most successful hunt, and soon had reynard up and dishing. The sport was exciting and much enjoyed by the party, the night being one of the most charming of the season. The fox was shot by the party, and the fox was shot by the party, and the fox was shot by the party.

From the Dalton, Ga., Citizen. Sheriff R. T. Mills informs us, that on last Monday night, he, in company with eighteen other lovers of the chase, went out for a fox hunt on the old Wells place, two miles from Albany. He says they had a most successful hunt, and soon had reynard up and dishing. The sport was exciting and much enjoyed by the party, the night being one of the most charming of the season. The fox was shot by the party, and the fox was shot by the party, and the fox was shot by the party.

From the Dalton, Ga., Citizen. Sheriff R. T. Mills informs us, that on last Monday night, he, in company with eighteen other lovers of the chase, went out for a fox hunt on the old Wells place, two miles from Albany. He says they had a most successful hunt, and soon had reynard up and dishing. The sport was exciting and much enjoyed by the party, the night being one of the most charming of the season. The fox was shot by the party, and the fox was shot by the party, and the fox was shot by the party.

From the Dalton, Ga., Citizen. Sheriff R. T. Mills informs us, that on last Monday night, he, in company with eighteen other lovers of the chase, went out for a fox hunt on the old Wells place, two miles from Albany. He says they had a most successful hunt, and soon had reynard up and dishing. The sport was exciting and much enjoyed by the party, the night being one of the most charming of the season. The fox was shot by the party, and the fox was shot by the party, and the fox was shot by the party.

From the Dalton, Ga., Citizen. Sheriff R. T. Mills informs us, that on last Monday night, he, in company with eighteen other lovers of the chase, went out for a fox hunt on the old Wells place, two miles from Albany. He says they had a most successful hunt, and soon had reynard up and dishing. The sport was exciting and much enjoyed by the party, the night being one of the most charming of the season. The fox was shot by the party, and the fox was shot by the party, and the fox was shot by the party.

From the Dalton, Ga., Citizen. Sheriff R. T. Mills informs us, that on last Monday night, he, in company with eighteen other lovers of the chase, went out for a fox hunt on the old Wells place, two miles from Albany. He says they had a most successful hunt, and soon had reynard up and dishing. The sport was exciting and much enjoyed by the party, the night being one of the most charming of the season. The fox was shot by the party, and the fox was shot by the party, and the fox was shot by the party.

From the Dalton, Ga., Citizen. Sheriff R. T. Mills informs us, that on last Monday night, he, in company with eighteen other lovers of the chase, went out for a fox hunt on the old Wells place, two miles from Albany. He says they had a most successful hunt, and soon had reynard up and dishing. The sport was exciting and much enjoyed by the party, the night being one of the most charming of the season. The fox was shot by the party, and the fox was shot by the party, and the fox was shot by the party.

From the Dalton, Ga., Citizen. Sheriff R. T. Mills informs us, that on last Monday night, he, in company with eighteen other lovers of the chase, went out for a fox hunt on the old Wells place, two miles from Albany. He says they had a most successful hunt, and soon had reynard up and dishing. The sport was exciting and much enjoyed by the party, the night being one of the most charming of the season. The fox was shot by the party, and the fox was shot by the party, and the fox was shot by the party.

From the Dalton, Ga., Citizen. Sheriff R. T. Mills informs us, that on last Monday night, he, in company with eighteen other lovers of the chase, went out for a fox hunt on the old Wells place, two miles from Albany. He says they had a most successful hunt, and soon had reynard up and dishing. The sport was exciting and much enjoyed by the party, the night being one of the most charming of the season. The fox was shot by the party, and the fox was shot by the party, and the fox was shot by the party.

From the Dalton, Ga., Citizen. Sheriff R. T. Mills informs us, that on last Monday night, he, in company with eighteen other lovers of the chase, went out for a fox hunt on the old Wells place, two miles from Albany. He says they had a most successful hunt, and soon had reynard up and dishing. The sport was exciting and much enjoyed by the party, the night being one of the most charming of the season. The fox was shot by the party, and the fox was shot by the party, and the fox was shot by the party.

From the Dalton, Ga., Citizen. Sheriff R. T. Mills informs us, that on last Monday night, he, in company with eighteen other lovers of the chase, went out for a fox hunt on the old Wells place, two miles from Albany. He says they had a most successful hunt, and soon had reynard up and dishing. The sport was exciting and much enjoyed by the party, the night being one of the most charming of the season. The fox was shot by the party, and the fox was shot by the party, and the fox was shot by the party.

From the Dalton, Ga., Citizen. Sheriff R. T. Mills informs us, that on last Monday night, he, in company with eighteen other lovers of the chase, went out for a fox hunt on the old Wells place, two miles from Albany. He says they had a most successful hunt, and soon had reynard up and dishing. The sport was exciting and much enjoyed by the party, the night being one of the most charming of the season. The fox was shot by the party, and the fox was shot by the party, and the fox was shot by the party.

From the Dalton, Ga., Citizen. Sheriff R. T. Mills informs us, that on last Monday night, he, in company with eighteen other lovers of the chase, went out for a fox hunt on the old Wells place, two miles from Albany. He says they had a most successful hunt, and soon had reynard up and dishing. The sport was exciting and much enjoyed by the party, the night being one of the most charming of the season. The fox was shot by the party, and the fox was shot by the party, and the fox was shot by the party.

From the Dalton, Ga., Citizen. Sheriff R. T. Mills informs us, that on last Monday night, he, in company with eighteen other lovers of the chase, went out for a fox hunt on the old Wells place, two miles from Albany. He says they had a most successful hunt, and soon had reynard up and dishing. The sport was exciting and much enjoyed by the party, the night being one of the most charming of the season. The fox was shot by the party, and the fox was shot by the party, and the fox was shot by the party.

From the Dalton, Ga., Citizen. Sheriff R. T. Mills informs us, that on last Monday night, he, in company with eighteen other lovers of the chase, went out for a fox hunt on the old Wells place, two miles from Albany. He says they had a most successful hunt, and soon had reynard up and dishing. The sport was exciting and much enjoyed by the party, the night being one of the most charming of the season. The fox was shot by the party, and the fox was shot by the party, and the fox was shot by the party.

GEORGIA NEWS BRIEFLY.

The Happening of the Day Throughout the State.

IF YOU HAVE

MALARIA OR PILES,

SICK HEADACHE, DUMAGUE, CONSTIPATION, BOWEL, SORE THROAT, AND BELCHING, IF YOU FEEL UNWELL, AND UNABLE TO ENJOY YOURSELF, TAKE TOTT'S PILLS.

TOTT'S PILLS

will cure these troubles. Try them; you have nothing to lose, but will gain a vigorous body. Price, 25c. per box.

Sold Everywhere.

TOTT'S PILLS

TOTT'S PILLS

TOTT'S PILLS

TOTT'S PILLS

TOTT'S PILLS

TOTT'S PILLS

TOTT'S PILLS

TOTT'S PILLS

TOTT'S PILLS

TOTT'S PILLS

TOTT'S PILLS

TOTT'S PILLS

TOTT'S PILLS

TOTT'S PILLS

